Jim Chavez

*Vice President: Energy and Global Security Division; Vice President: Global Security Program Management Unit
Sandia National Laboratories*

Jim Chavez is Vice President of the Energy and Global Security Division and VP of Global Security programs at Sandia National Laboratories. As VP of the Energy and Global Security Division, Mr. Chavez oversees more than 1300 employees and contractors and manages a diverse portfolio that includes projects in global security, energy technologies, weapon and force protection, critical asset protection, the nuclear fuel cycle, and geoscience and climate. Mr. Chavez also leads Sandia's Global Security Program Management Unit (PMU). The PMU mission encompasses nonproliferation and arms control; securing and safeguarding nuclear weapons and nuclear materials; protecting critical U.S. government assets and installations; ensuring the resilience of physical and cyber infrastructures; and reducing the risks of terrorist threats and catastrophic events.

In his 35-year career at Sandia, Mr. Chavez has held a variety of positions. Prior to his current position, he served as Director of the Monitoring Systems Center and Director of the Remote Monitoring and Verification Program. Before that, he was Director of the Systems Assessment and Research Center and Proliferation Program, with responsibility for intelligence programs that Sandia conducts for U.S. national security organizations. Other assignments at Sandia include Manager of Sandia's Government Relations and Washington Office, Manager of the National Solar Thermal Test Facility, staff researcher on the development and demonstration of renewable energy technologies, research on nuclear reactor safety, and research on physical security for the U.S. State Department. In 2001, Mr. Chavez was selected as a Congressional Fellow for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, where he worked for Representative Heather Wilson (R-NM) in Washington, DC as her Science and Technology Advisor.

Mr. Chavez is an active member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is also a member of the New Mexico State University Mechanical Engineering Advisory Board. He is a past recipient of the Hispanic Professional Engineer Award for Professional Achievement. Mr. Chavez is also member of the National Hispanic Cultural Center Foundation Board.

Mr. Chavez earned his BS in Mechanical Engineering at the New Mexico State University and his MS in Mechanical Engineering at the University of California, Berkeley.
